

Do not forget the big bargains in up-to-date clothing at B. N. Brown's.

Arcadia Items.

Not having seen any news items from our town in the REGISTER for quite a time, we thought, perhaps, it would not be amiss to send a short communication for this week's issue.

The exodus to the centennial in St. Louis last week almost depopulated this town, but everything will, perhaps, resume its former equanimity within a few days.

Business with our merchants appears to be very good. Two delivery wagons are kept almost busily engaged delivering goods to the customers in Arcadia proper, to say nothing of the vast amount of trade in the surrounding localities.

Mr. E. Meyer, one of our popular merchants, recently showed the writer an order from Graniteville for goods to be delivered today (Monday).

Why, Bro. Ake, if you think our town is a back number, just come over any afternoon during the week, and notice the teams and wagons from the surrounding localities, to say nothing of the cash trade done by our town people. This will certainly convince you that we are strictly up-to-date as a business center.

Miss Lena Fletcher, who made a tour of the west, her objective point being the Alaska-Yukon Exposition at Seattle, has returned home. She expresses herself as having had a very pleasant trip.

Miss Mildred Bopp, of Illinois, recently visited relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. Young, of St. Louis, who spent several weeks at the Kanouse hotel here, has returned to her home. She will probably return here for a week or two next month.

While rambling through Russellville Sunday, we noticed Hon. Wm. R. Edgar, wife and son, driving out towards the Shut-In, where we presume they were going to spend an hour or so enjoying the grandeur of the mountain scenery of this locality.

Quarterly Conference here Saturday and Sunday was well attended, and all report a good time.

Elegant children's, misses' and ladies' hats at B. N. Brown's. The price is extremely low.

Lesterville Items.

Quite a flurry of excitement was caused here during the week, among the relatives and many friends of Mr. James Jamison, who formerly resided in this section, by the receipt of a paper from New Mexico, where Mr. Jamison now resides, stating that he had died very suddenly, and a great relief was experienced, when a letter was received from him, saying that while he had been reported dead, he was very much alive and well.

Quite a large delegation of the citizens of Lesterville attended the centennial at St. Louis, among them being: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rayfield, Mrs. G. A. Johnston, Misses Effie and Ina Johnston, Thos. Faulkenberry, Walter Shy, Chas. White, Jr., W. A. Vandill, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bonney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodges, and George Goggin. There may have been others, of whom your correspondent was not informed.

W. A. Vandill, while attending the centennial, and seeing the sights of the big city, took a party of four of his friends to see John Chinaman, and incidentally enjoy a dish of chop suey, and was somewhat surprised when he came to pay his bill, to find it was $4.00. They saw you coming, Will.

Some of the boys returned early from the city, either because their money ran short, or because they were homesick, and one of the early arrivals reported one of the hub mill employees as wanting what money was coming to him, and the messenger, who we think was rather envious because he had no employer to draw on, said the money was wanted to get his friend out of the Police Station, but we think it was to see the thing through, regardless of expense. HUBITE.
